Above you find listed the top 20 players in North Carolina through Feb. 26, 2010, based on the tournaments above. They are currently sorted by average points-per-game, based on five tournaments. This metric is for sorting only, as you could argue that Maddie Williams, for example, with two tournaments at 49.6 ppg should be ranked higher. That's probably true, but it also seems unfair to rank someone higher for two good performances versus 5 consistent appearances. This ballot is not to debate that. This ballot is for you to choose the best 8 players in North Carolina based on whatever criteria you choose.

All-Star Ballot

Player Name	Rank (8 is the best)

In the ballot above, list the player's name. For each player, assign a rank from 1-8, where 8 is the best and 1 the worst (least best?) of the group. For the purposes of tallying, the numbers given to each player will be summed, so the player with the highest total will be ranked the highest.

Return the ballot to any tournament official, Eric Grunden, or Paul Smith. If you are completing this electronically, email it to Eric Grunden (egrunden@raleighcharterhs.org).
